JUL 19 1983

Dear Sir:

For some time I have been concerned about the condition in which a group of boys (I think Boy Scouts) left the land opposite my home. In May the campers used the site on Nagog Hill Road. I was appalled to discover the trash bags which were left in the parking area. Dogs found and scattered the trash.

I know that the Conservation Commission takes care to insure that members of the community respect the land. My neighbors, the McConnons, are careful to contribute to the maintenance of the Conservation land which they lease for their horses. The McConnons rotate the fields, maintain the fences, and keep the area free of trash. It's a shame that the campers do not learn this same respect.

I hope that the Board will take action to insure that campers remove all of their trash. Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Joanne Lazdowski
