Hi. I spoke with Rob regarding his responses. I think we're close enough that he can handle everything in the conditions of an approval. He wanted me to formally respond to his responses but I didn't think it was necessary until he actually makes the changes and provides a new plan. The only major-ish issue left is the water balance calculation which similarly to the rest of his comments, we went over what he's going to provide and it sounds great but I can't really comment until I actually see the new calc's.

Thank you,
Paul Campbell
