Hi Robert,

Ah, the barn was in fact a chicken house and we, the Historical Comm. have no interest in saving it. And the current house at 111 Summer, built in 1963 is also of no interest to us. 105 through 111 Summer St. used to be part of the same farm and there may have been some mixing and matching in the info. Hope this answers your question and thanks for asking,

Tory
